

Frederik Dirks Gottlieb

Look up! UFOs exist.

Kig op! Der findes UFOer.

A thought-provoking non-fiction book for 8+, which sparks the imagination and curiosity about what is going on out there in space. It also tells the story of the boy, Frederik, who inherits his father's old papers with notes on all the most noticeable UFO-observations.

Frederik Dirks Gottlieb is a Danish podcaster, journalist, film producer, radio & TV host and now also author of a children's book about one of his greatest passions, UFOs.

SYNOPSIS

Look up! UFOs exist is the story about the most notorious UFO observations from around the world and at the same time, it is a thought-provoking story for children about the need to look up in order to understand who we are and to open up to thoughts about what is going on outside of our own planet.

The author of the book, Frederik Dirks Gottlieb, had a father who was a member of a local UFO club in Denmark in the 50s. When he passed away, he left his notes and newspaper clippings and Frederik started reading them. That eventually became the very popular pod-cast, co-hosted with astrophysicist, Anja C Andersen, "Flying Saucer", which now also exists in English.

In the book, Frederik Dirks Gottlieb tells us about some of the most incredible observations from around the world. E.g. the pilot, Kenneth Arnold, who observed nine flying objects with a speed of 2700 km/h from his plane. Or the Danish policeman, Evald Hansen, who was blinded by a UFO in his car.

The book is aimed at children and their parents – and is suitable for reading aloud and for conversations where there is space to let the thoughts wander together.
